IN THIS ISSUE:
Settle In, our ultimate binge watch series, returns! (p. 6-7)
The Festival of Films from Iran celebrates its 35th year (p. 8-10)
Hot & Heavy steams up our screens (p. 12-13)
2024 is here, and rather than politely ringing in the new year, we at the Film Center are grabbing bullhorns and banging drums to welcome what we promise will be another bold and immersive twelve months of exceptional cinema at 164 North State Street.

Stumped on your new year’s resolution? Might we suggest that, if you’re determined to see a movie longer than four hours, you can cross that off your list with the second installment of Settle In (p. 6-7). Haven’t yet watched an erotic drama in a dark room full of strangers? We’ve got your back in February with Hot & Heavy (p. 12-13). And, if you’re desperate to see Mads Mikkelsen plant potatoes and fight for agricultural justice, we’ll see you at THE PROMISED LAND (p. 3). If that wasn’t enough to convince you that 2024 is going to be a stunner, we’ve also got a fresh season of Conversations at the Edge (p. 15), the next line-up of our popular Lecture Series (16-17), the annual Festival of Films from Iran (p. 8-10), and new films from Steve McQueen, Deborah Stratman, Kleber Mendonça Filho, and Lila Avilés. Happy new year, cinema lovers!

OPENS JANUARY 5

COUP DE TORCHON
In English and French with English subtitles / Format: 4K digital restoration

In this pitch-black adaptation of Jim Thompson's 1964 pulp novel Pop. 1280, Lucien Cordier is an inept and timid police chief in a sleepy French colonial outpost in Senegal. Withstanding daily humiliations by his wife and harassment by two local pimps, Lucien is pushed to his limit, and transforms into a heartless killer. Part absurdist comedy, part neo-noir, COUP DE TORCHON is a macabre exploration of power, masculinity, and societal decay, co-starring a luminous Isabelle Huppert and presented in a stunning 4K restoration. Film Center exclusive.

OPENS JANUARY 12

NOSTALGHIA
1983, dir. Andrei Tarkovsky, Italy, Soviet Union, 125 min.
Italian and Russian with English subtitles / Format: 4K digital restoration

Filmed in Italy while isolated from his native Russia, Andrei Tarkovsky's NOSTALGHIA is a brooding, darkly poetic vision of exile. Russian researcher Andrei is working in Italy where he becomes obsessed with the Botticelli-like beauty of his translator Eugenia, as well as with the apocryphal ramblings of a self-destructive wanderer named Domenico. Drenched with homesickness, NOSTALGHIA is a mystical collision of cultures, shot with a tactile beauty that only Tarkovsky can provide, and described by the Village Voice as “not so much a movie as a place to inhabit for two hours.” Film Center exclusive.

OPENS JANUARY 19

THE SETTLERS (LOS COLONOS)
2023, dir. Felipe Gálvez Haberle
Chile, Argentina, France, Denmark, UK, Taiwan, Sweden, Germany, 97 min.
In English and Spanish with English subtitles / Format: Digital

Chile, 1901. Three horsemen—a deranged British soldier, an American cowboy, and a Chilean “mestizo”—are hired to clear the Indigenous people from an expanse of Patagonia land by the powerful and callous man who owns it. As visually sumptuous as it is brutal and bloody, director Felipe Gálvez Haberle’s feature debut is a blistering indictment of colonialism, capitalism, and the greed of man. Content consideration: contains scenes of violence and sexual assault. Film Center exclusive.

OPENS JANUARY 19

LAST THINGS
2023, dir. Deborah Stratman, USA, Portugal, France, 50 min.
In English and French with English subtitles / Format: 35mm and digital

An official selection of Sundance and the Berlinale Film Festival, and the opening night film of the 33rd Onion City Experimental Film Festival, Stratman’s LAST THINGS examines evolution and extinction from the perspective of the rocks and minerals that came before humanity and will outlast us. With a stunning array of images from microscopic forms to vast landscapes, Stratman seeks a picture of evolution without humans at the center. Select showtimes will be presented digitally, see online listing. Film Center exclusive.

OPENS JANUARY 26

ONE FROM THE HEART: REPRISE
1981, dir. Francis Ford Coppola, USA, 107 min
In English and German with English subtitles / Format: 4K digital restoration

Maligned by critics upon its release and a financial disaster for Columbia Pictures, Francis Ford Coppola’s ONE FROM THE HEART was given the dreaded distinction of “flop.” With this stunning 4K restoration, which premiered at the 2023 Venice Film Festival, Coppola’s modern musical fantasy is deserving of fresh consideration. Filmed entirely on an intentionally visible soundstage, implementing ingenious editing techniques and set to the soundtrack from Tom Waits, the story of two lovers navigating a breakup plays out against a spectacularly neon-lit Las Vegas and is a testament to the auteur’s innovative vision. Film Center exclusive.

OPENS JANUARY 26

INSIDE THE YELLOW COCONUT SHELL (BÊN TRONG VO KÉN VÁNG)
2023, dir. Pham Thiên An, Vietnam, France, Singapore, Spain, 179 min.
In English and Vietnamese with English subtitles / Format: Digital

After an accident claims the life of his sister-in-law and leaves his five-year-old nephew an orphan, Thien sets off on a journey to his rural hometown to find his long-missing brother. Winner of the prestigious Camera d’Or at Cannes, Pham Thiên An’s lyrical and delicate exploration of faith begs comparison to the work of Thai auteur Apichatpong Weerasethakul, but sings in a voice all its own, offering an evocative reverie on loss, nature, and life itself, expressed with uncommon invention and depth. Film Center exclusive.

OPENS JANUARY 26

PICTURES OF GHOSTS (RETRATOS FANTASMAS)
2022, dir. Kleber Mendonça Filho, Brazil, 93 min.
In Portuguese with English subtitles / Format: Digital

From acclaimed director Kleber Mendonça Filho (BACURAU) comes this multidimensional journey through time, sound, architecture, and filmmaking, set in the urban landscape of Recife, Brazil, and examined through the great movie theaters that served as spaces of conviviality during the 20th century. Combining archive documented, mystery, film clips, and personal memories, PICTURES OF GHOSTS is a map of a city through the lens of cinema, and Brazil’s official selection for the 2024 Academy Awards. Film Center exclusive.

OPENS FEBRUARY 2

THE PROMISED LAND (BASTARDEN)
2023, dir. Nikolaj Arcel
Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Germany, 129 min.
In Danish with English subtitles / Format: Digital

In 1755, the impoverished Captain Ludvig Kahlen (an exceptionally steely Mads Mikkelsen) sets out to conquer the harsh, uninhabitable Danish heath with a seemingly impossible goal: to build a colony in the name of the King and receive a desperately desired royal name for himself. The sole ruler of the area, the merciless Frederik de Schinkel, arrogantly believes this land belongs to him, and does everything in his power to drive Kahlen away. Richly satisfying, THE PROMISED LAND scratches every epic historical drama itch; it’s a rousing, stand-up-and-cheer watch, complete with Petticoats, corsets, muskets; and features a hero worth rooting for.
In Lila Avilés’ tender TÓTEM, young Sol spends the day at her grandfather’s house, helping her family prepare for the birthday party of her dying father, Tona. As she wanders through hectic hallways and overhears emotional conversations from around corners, a rich portrait of family is revealed through her eyes. A study of mortality and a celebration of life, TÓTEM is a film of profound beauty that the Alliance of Women Film Journalists called “a compassionate little wonder.” Co-presented with The National Museum of Mexican Art. Film Center exclusive.

In the follow-up to his Academy Award–nominated LUNANA: A YAK IN THE CLASSROOM, Pawo Choyning Dorji crafts a big-hearted and poignant fable about embracing the future while recognizing the past. In 2006, the King of Bhutan abdicated the throne, and the country began the transition to democracy. Following the perspective of elders, villagers, and monks, among others, THE MONK AND THE GUN is a playful and wise ensemble drama and a wholly gratifying account of a nation at a crucial inflection point.

In France in the late 19th century, Dodin Bouffant (the always commanding Benoît Magimel) is a chef living with his personal cook and lover Eugénie (a luminous Juliette Binoche). Though they share a long history of gastronomy and love, Eugénie refuses to marry Dodin, so the food lover decides to do something he has never done before: cook for her. Winner of Best Director in French with English subtitles / Format: Digital

In the bold and dazzling DISCO BOY, winner of the Berlinale’s Silver Bear for Outstanding Artistic Contribution, Aleksei (Franz Rogowski, PASSAGES) is an undocumented Belarusian immigrant who joins the French Foreign Legion in exchange for the promise of French citizenship. Far away in the Niger Delta, Jomo is a military guerrilla, fighting against oil companies that threaten his village. Across borders and time, in this immersive, electronic score-soaked stunner, the two men’s destinies converge. Film Center exclusive.

For the 19th consecutive year, ShortsTV presents the Oscar-Nominated Short Films, your annual chance to predict the winners (and have the edge in your Oscar pool)! A perennial hit with audiences both nationally and internationally, don’t miss this year’s selection of shorts before the Academy Awards on Sunday, March 10. Nominations and full program details announced January 23.

The internationally embraced YI YI (A ONE AND A TWO . . .) follows a middle-class family in Taipei over the course of one year, beginning with a wedding and ending with a funeral. Whether chronicling middle-aged father NJ’s tentative flirtations with an old flame or precocious young son Yang-Yang’s attempts at capturing reality with his beloved camera, Yang deftly imbues every gorgeous frame with a compassionate clarity. Warm and dazzling, YI YI is an undisputed masterwork.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 11:00AM

THE WHEEL (LA ROUE)

1923, dir. Abel Gance, France, 426 min. No dialogue

Format: 4K digital restoration

An unparalleled triumph in cinema history, Abel Gance’s silent-era masterwork has been meticulously restored to its complete original form: a nearly seven-hour melodrama that reaches the heights of Greek tragedy. Séverin-Mars commands the screen as Sisif, a humble railwayman who clandestinely adopts an infant orphaned in a train disaster. Over the years, Sisif allows Norma to believe he is his biological daughter, while harboring a forbidden love for her. He soon shares this “curse” with his biological son, Elie, who becomes smitten by Norma when he learns of his sister’s true origins. Powered by Gance’s pioneering filmic and editing techniques, as well as Arthur Honegger's original score, THE WHEEL is a stunning visual feast. Program includes three intermissions.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 13, 11:00AM

DEAD SOULS

2018, dir. Wang Bing, Switzerland, France, 506 min.

In Mandarin with English subtitles / Format: Digital

In the harrowing and fearless DEAD SOULS, acclaimed long-form documentarian Wang Bing trains his patient and empathetic lens on the dark history of China’s labor camps during the 1957–59 Anti-Rightist Campaign. Unfolding over eight hours, Bing meticulously captures the testimonies of survivors who endured unimaginable atrocities. As former political prisoners recount their experiences and the inhuman conditions they faced, DEAD SOULS becomes a powerful and haunting exploration of historical trauma, governmental oppression, and the resilience of the human spirit, serving as both a historical record and a deeply moving tribute to those who suffered in silence. Program includes two intermissions.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 20, 11:00AM

SÁTÁNTANGÓ

1994, dir. Béla Tarr, Hungary, Germany, Switzerland, 439 min.

In Hungarian with English subtitles / Format: 4K digital restoration

Lauded as a masterpiece by audiences and critics alike upon its release (Susan Sontag declared she would be “glad to see it every year for the rest of my life”), and shot in stunning black and white, Béla Tarr’s slow cinema opus follows members of a defunct agricultural collective living in a post-apocalyptic landscape whose lives are altered forever when a mysterious character returns to their village. A must-see on the big screen for any Tarr fan, SÁTÁNTANGÓ is presented in 12 distinct segments, designed to mimic the structure of a tango, resulting in a transfixing, spellbinding, and infinite dance. Program includes two intermissions.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 11:00AM

STAR SPANGLED TO DEATH

2004, dir. Ken Jacobs, USA, 440 min. In English / Format: Digital

In the first hour of Ken Jacobs’ biting, found-footage critique of America, text on screen declares, “With the sheeps led by the foxes for the benefit of the wolves, what chance do we have of getting out of this alive? STAR SPANGLED TO DEATH considers the astronomical odds against being alive to begin with and suggests resistance. What the hell.” Alarmingly contemporary, this avant-garde epic stitches together ethnographic footage, political speeches, film, and cartoons into a provocative exploration of race, religion, politics, war, and wealth. Deemed by the New York Times as “the ultimate underground movie, subversive and frequently hilarious,” and alternatively titled AMERICAN FAILURE, STAR SPANGLED TO DEATH is a subversive, cinematic howl. Program includes one intermission.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 11:00AM AND SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 11:00AM

BERLIN ALEXANDERPLATZ

1980, dir. Rainer Werner Fassbinder, West Germany, Italy, 902 min. In German with English subtitles / Format: Digital

Set in post-World War I Berlin, Fassbinder’s epic miniseries follows ex-convict Franz Biberkopf’s struggle “to become an honest soul” amidst a turbulent social and political landscape. Franz (Günter Lamprecht, in a towering performance) faces temptations, betrayals, and existential crises, embodying the societal upheaval of the Weimar Republic. Praised as a “huge, magnificent melodrama” by the New York Times, BERLIN ALEXANDERPLATZ stands as a monumental achievement and a sprawling narrative that scrutinizes morality and the impact of a brutal war and showcases Fassbinder’s mastery in crafting rich portraits of the human condition. Presented over two days—trust us, we crunched the clock and there was no way to responsibly present this within 24 hours (consider a good night’s sleep as an intermission). Admission is $55 for general audiences and $35 for Film Center members, and includes tickets to both days. Program includes two intermissions both days.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 11:00AM

FANNY AND ALEXANDER (FANNY OCH ALEXANDER)

1983, dir. Ingmar Bergman, Sweden, France, 312 min.

In English and Swedish, German, Yiddish and French with English subtitles / Format: Digital

For those easing cautiously into epic runtimes, we’ve reserved the briefest cinematic journey for last. Through 10-year-old Alexander’s eyes, we witness the delights and conflicts of the Ekdahl family, a sprawling bourgeois clan in turn-of-the-twentieth-century Sweden. FANNY AND ALEXANDER is Ingmar Bergman’s warmest and most autobiographical film, a four-time Academy Award–winning triumph that combines his trademark melancholy and emotional intensity with immense joy and sensuality. Ingmar Bergman described FANNY AND ALEXANDER as “the sum total of my life as a filmmaker.” And in this, the full-length version of his triumphant valediction, his vision is expressed at its fullest. Program includes one intermission.
For our 35th Iranian spotlight, the Film Center proudly presents 11 films—including nine Chicago premieres—from directors working within and outside of Iran. The showcase begins with Ehsan Khoshbakht's CELLULOID UNDERGROUND, a poetic and moving document of the creative, inspiring, and subversive power of cinema in Iran—a perfect way to kick off a week-long spotlight of some of the best and brightest voices from the region.

We also pay special tribute to the mastery of the Iranian auteur Dariush Mehrjui, one of the most important pioneers of the Iranian New Wave cinema, who was tragically murdered on October 14, 2023. His seminal and groundbreaking 1969 film THE COW will be followed by DARIUSH MEHRJUI: MAKING OF THE COW, with director Bahman Maghsoudlou in attendance. Join us for a week of embracing and changing perspectives, connecting with new voices, and exploring Iran’s political, social, and cultural world.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 6:15PM
CELLULOID UNDERGROUND
2023, dir. Ehsan Khoshbakht, UK, Iran, 80 min.
In English and Persian with English subtitles / Format: Digital

After the Iranian Revolution, a movie collector in Tehran hid thousands of films to prevent their destruction by the new Islamic regime. Despite arrest and torture, he refused to give up his secret. In this moving and inspiring autobiography about the subversive power of celluloid dreams, his story of resistance is told by the boy who became his partner in crime, recollected years later from exile in London.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 5:30PM
THE COW (GAAV)
1969, dir. Dariush Mehrjui, Iran, 104 min.
In Persian with English subtitles / Format: Digital

A landmark film in Iranian cinema, Mehrjui’s THE COW gained international acclaim when it won the Critics Prize at the Venice Film Festival and caught the eye of Ayatollah Khomeini, whose admiration and encouragement of the film ushered in the New Wave of Iranian cinema. In rural Iran, the death of his beloved cow drives the villager Hassan into madness. A visionary exploration of grief, THE COW is an allegorical portrait of poverty and mortality.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 7:30PM
DARIUSH MEHRJUI: MAKING OF THE COW
2022, dir. Bahman Maghsoudlou, USA, Iran, 85 min.
In English and Persian with English subtitles / Format: Digital

Join director Bahman Maghsoudlou in person for a robust discussion following his documentary chronicling the production and reception of Dariush Mehrjui’s seminal film THE COW. Bahman Maghsoudlou scheduled to attend.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1:00PM
ENDLESS BORDERS (MARZHAYE BI PAYAN)
2023, dir. Abbas Amini, Germany, Iran, Czech Republic, 111 min. In Persian with English subtitles / Format: Digital

As the rise of the Taliban in Afghanistan has reignited the fire of ethnic and tribal wars, a teacher named Ahmad befriends a Hazara refugee family from Afghanistan who are under an immediate threat. An exiled Iranian, his own prejudices are challenged as he realizes the impact of prejudice on their lives. When he decides to help a forbidden love, he risks dire consequences for everyone involved.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1:00PM
ROXANA
2023, dir. Parviz Shahbazi, Iran, 130 min.
In Persian with English subtitles / Format: Digital

Fred, adrift and purposeless, meets the modern Roxana by chance. He’s unemployed and a disappointment to his mother, while she owns her own videography business and boldly redefines the conventions of her hijab. Far from a meet-cute love story, ROXANA—winner of the Best Actor (Yasna Mirtahmasb) prize at the Tokyo Film Festival—blossoms into a vibrant and modern Iranian love story between two people defying societal expectations. Director of photography Pouya Shahbazi scheduled to attend.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 6:15PM

2023, dirs. Ali Asgari, Alireza Khatami, Iran, 77 min.
In Persian with English subtitles / Format: Digital

TERRESTRIAL VERSUS (AYEH HAYE ZAMINI)
2023, dirs. Ali Asgari, Alireza Khatami, Iran, 77 min.
In Persian with English subtitles / Format: Digital

TERRESTRIAL VERSES follows everyday people from all walks of life as they navigate the cultural, religious, and institutional constraints imposed on them by various social authorities, from school teachers to bureaucrats. These stirring vignettes, humorous and affecting, capture the spirit and determination of people amid adversity, offering a nuanced portrait of a complex society.
Tradition and true love clash in this tale of troubled love in contemporary Iran. Amir and Narges are in love. That’s far from enough to build a life together, and they are forced to keep the relationship secret. To win over Narges’ upper-class family Amir needs money for an appropriate dowry. He finds work at a local fishery and is drawn into the dangerous but lucrative business of black market caviar smuggling. As Amir’s values are compromised, Narges tries to delay the arranged marriage her parents are planning for her. Relationship secret. VANYA
2023, dir. Sam Yates, UK, 110 min. In English / Format: Digital
Andrew Scott (Fleabag, ALL OF US STRANGERS) brings multiple characters to life in Simon Stephens’ (The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time) radical new version of Chekhov’s Uncle Vanya. Hopes, dreams, and regrets are thrust into sharp focus in this one-man adaptation which explores the complexities of human emotions. (NTL)
THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 8:30PM
QUERELLE
1982, dir. Rainer Werner Fassbinder, West Germany, France, 108 min. In English / Format: Digital
In the final film before his untimely death, QUERELLE finds Fassbinder pushing his embrace of artifice and taboo-shattering depictions of queer desire to new extremes. A fast-paced, tension-building stage backdrop of a French seaport, Fassbinder daringly adapts Jean Genet’s novel ‘Querelle of Brest’ into the tragedy of a handsome sailor as he is drawn into a vortex of sibling rivalry, murder, and explosive sexuality. A stylishly stylized tale of hothouse lust and simmering violence, QUERELLE is a lurid cult classic that showcases Fassbinder’s primal and audacious point of view.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 8:45PM
CRASH
1996, dir. David Cronenberg, UK, Canada, USA, 100 min. In English and Swedish with English subtitles / Format: 35mm
David Cronenberg regularly uses the physical body as his cinematic subject, and in CRASH—presented here in its NC-17 version—he delves into the surreal subculture of car crash fetishism. James Spader, Elias Koteas, and Holly Hunter star as members of an underground community of people who become sexually aroused by car accidents. As they grow more obsessed with their unique kink, the boundary between pleasure and pain dangerously blurs. Explicit and provocative, CRASH premiered at the Cannes Film Festival, where it elicited boos from the audience, and also received a rare Special Jury Prize (allegedly despite the vehement objections of jury president Francis Ford Coppola).

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 2:00PM
SECRETARY
2002, dir. Steven Shainberg, USA, 107 min. In English / Format: 35mm
Lee Holloway (Maggie Gyllenhaal, in an acclaimed performance), a shy young woman who struggles with self-harm, takes a job as the secretary for the demanding and mysterious L. T. B., a cruel and domineering boss (James Spader, in his second appearance in this series). As she fetches coffee and he criticizes her typing skills, the sexual tension builds, and a powerful BDSM (bondage, discipline, dominance, submission, sadism, and masochism) relationship develops between them. Exploring themes of control, self-acceptance, and unconventional care, SECRETARY is a sincere story of true love (and spanking).

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 4:15PM
I, YOU, HE, SHE (JE TU IL ELLE)
1975, dir. Chantal Akerman, Belgium, France, 86 min. In French with English subtitles / Format: Digital
In her provocative and minimalist first feature, made just before her masterpiece I, Jeanne Dielman, 23 Quai du Commerce, 1080 Bruxelles, Chantal Akerman stars as an aimless and isolated young woman named Julie who embarks on a road trip that leads to lonely love affairs with a male truck driver and a former girlfriend. Hailed as the “cinematic Rosetta Stone of female sexuality” by queer film scholar (and former Film Center programer) B. Ruby Rich, I, YOU, HE, SHE is renowned for its audacious real-time love scene and revered for its personal, humanistic portrayal of queer life.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 8:45PM
L.A. PLAYS ITSELF
1972, dir. Fred Halsted, USA, 55 min. In English / Format: 4K digital
The taboo-shattering films of legendary director Fred Halsted broke new ground in gay erotic cinema for their portrayal of polymorphous perversity and for their avant-garde sensibility. His work sent shockwaves throughout the gay liberation movement and the art house alike, leading to their eventual acquisition by the Museum of Modern Art. L.A. PLAYS ITSELF, Halsted’s elliptical, experimental, and explicit patchwork of grimy streets, urban overdevelopment, and dangerous sexual encounters, is a revolutionary masterwork (upon seeing the film, Salvador Dalí was reportedly quoted as saying, “new information for me”) that is as arousing as it is distressing. Content consideration: contains scenes of violence. No one under 18 admitted.

WEEKEND
2001, dir. Andrew Haigh, UK, 97 min. In English / Format: Digital
In the deeply romantic WEEKEND, a brief encounter between Russell (Tom Cullen) and Glen (Chris New) transforms into a weekend of profound connection. One of the most widely beloved queer romances of the 21st century, Andrew Haigh’s (ALL OF US STRANGERS) film received praise for its unpretentious exploration of both the transient nature of a hook up and the transformative power of true connection. Called the “rarest of birds: a movie romance that rings true” by the Village Voice, WEEKEND is a poignant and sensual portrait of modern gay life.

LUST, CAUTION (SE, JIE)
2007, dir. Ang Lee, Taiwan, USA, Hong Kong, China, 157 min. In English and Mandarin, Japanese, Shanghainese, Hindi, and Cantonese with English subtitles / Format: 75mm
Winner of the Golden Lion at the Venice Film Festival, given an NC-17 rating upon its release in the USA, and heavily censored in the People’s Republic of China, Lee’s LUST, CAUTION is a brooding, erotic espionage thriller set against the backdrop of World War II Shanghai. In this meditation on power and passion, secret agent Wang Jiazi (Tang Wei) finds herself falling in love with the official she is assigned to assassinate (Tony Leung). As convictions collide with the complexities of desire, and sexual and political tensions ratchet up, Lee pulls the release valve by delivering a masterclass in seamlessly integrating the depiction of sex into the narrative fabric. Content consideration: includes a scene of sexual assault.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 6:00PM
THE DUKE OF BURGUNDY
2014, dir. Peter Strickland, UK, Hungary, 104 min. In English / Format: Digital
In Strickland’s mesmerizing and critically acclaimed THE DUKE OF BURGUNDY, the intimate relationship between Cynthis, a lepidopterist, and her submissive lover Evelyn unfolds against the sumptuous backdrop of a dying European estate. As the two women navigate the extremes of carnal desire and Strickland deftly blurs the boundary between reality and role-playing, Evelyn’s insatiable appetite for punishment pushes the relationship to its limits. Enveloped in a gauzy, Gothic atmosphere, and complemented by a lush pop score from Badet’s Eys, this darkly comic erotic fantasy, with a singular focus on female sexuality, is a seductive feast for the senses.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 6:00PM
BELLE DE JOUR
1967, dir. Luis Buñuel, France, Italy, 100 min. In French and Spanish with English subtitles / Format: 75mm
In one of her most iconic roles, Catherine Deneuve portrays a sexually unfulfilled housewife who begins secretly spending her afternoons working in a bordello. This surreal and erotic late-sixties screenplay from provocateur for the ages Luis Buñuel is an examination of desire and fetishistic pleasure (its characters’ and its viewers’), as well as a gently absurdist take on social mores and class divisions. Praised as “possibly the best-known erotic film of modern times, perhaps the best” by Roger Ebert, fantasy and reality come together in one of Buñuel’s biggest hits.

SHAKEDOWN
2019, dir. Leilah Weinraub, USA, 82 min. In English / Format: Digital
In SHAKEDOWN—a film with the rare distinction of at one point being simultaneously available on both the Criterion Channel and Pornhub—conceptual artist Leilah Weinraub’s documents the vibrant and provocative world of the eponymous L.A.’s Black, lesbian underground strip club. With the tenderness of a home movie, Weinraub provides a window into the world of Shakedown, which was owned and operated by women, illegal in nature, and a place of sexual empowerment and community. An exploration of desire, identity, and resistance, hailed by Cinema Scope as “a queer cultural intervention on par with PARIS IS BURNING, without the touristic underpinnings,” SHAKEDOWN captures the propulsive, dreamlike atmosphere of a haven of sexual freedom.

In 1993, the British artist Derek Jarman released BLUE (1993, 79 min), an epoch-defining account of AIDS, illness, and the experience of disability in a culture of repressive heteronormativity and compulsory able-bodiness. Despite being referred to as a feature film, BLUE never existed exclusively in one medium. It was screened in theaters, simulcast on television and radio, released as a CD, and published as a book, creating opportunities for many different kinds of sensory abilities – visual, aural, and textual – to experience the work. The BLUE DESCRIPTION PROJECT, conceived by artists and writers Liza Sylvestre and Christopher Jones, builds on the multifaceted nature of Jarman’s work through newly commissioned and expansive accessibility, including creative audio descriptions and captions. Reflecting BLUE’s standing as a foundational work of Crip art, the project challenges ableist hierarchies while focusing on the generative possibilities of difference and interdependence. Sylvestre and Jones will join us for an extended conversation about the project afterward.

The BLUE DESCRIPTION PROJECT is produced by Crip*, a transdisciplinary initiative in the College of Fine and Applied Arts at the University of Illinois–Champaign, in partnership with Sarah Hayden and the Voices in the Gallery research initiative at the University of Southampton.

Elysium
2013, dir. Neill Blomkamp, USA, Canada, 109 min.
In English and Spanish, French, and Afrikaans with English subtitles / Format: 35mm

In director Neill Blomkamp’s dystopian tale of class division, the year is 2154, and the Earth is polluted and overpopulated. The wealthy live on Elysium, a utopian artificial space station that orbits the planet, while the impoverished majority struggle to survive on the ruined Earth. People thrive in the fresh air on Elysium, with plentiful food, clean water, and medical technologies that have cured cancer. Hunger, disease, and radiation poisoning plague those left on Earth, but an injured laborer, Max (Matt Damon), may change that if he can just make it to a Med-Bay in time.

Take Shelter
2011, dir. Jeff Nichols, USA, 120 min. In English / Format: 35mm

In LaGrange, Ohio, construction worker Curtis LaForche (Michael Shannon) is tortured by apocalyptic nightmares and visions of storms that rain motor oil. He is increasingly isolated socially as he becomes obsessed with expanding a shelter for his wife Samantha (Jessica Chastain) and hearing-impaired daughter Hannah in his backyard. Is he having a psychotic break, or a premonition of the devastation to come?

Snowpiercer
2013, dir. Bong Joon-ho, South Korea, Czech Republic, 126 min.
In English and Korean, French, Japanese, Czech, and German with English subtitles / Format: Digital

In Bong Joon-ho’s SNOWPIECER, a climate engineering experiment gone wrong has enveloped the Earth in a new ice age. All that remains of humanity is segregated by class and confined to a train that must stay in perpetual motion. Inequalities and labor oppression have been enforced, but a revolution—led by Curtis Everett (Chris Evans)—is beginning, and a violent and visually compelling journey to the front of the train has begun.

Princess Mononoke

During the 14th century, the once serene rapport between humans, animals, and gods starts to disintegrate. Prince Ashitaka contracts a malady from an animal assault and embarks on a quest for a remedy from the deer-like deity Shishigami. Throughout his journey, he witnesses humanity laying waste to the land, provoking the ire of the wolf god Moro and her human ally, Princess Mononoke. His endeavors to mediate peace between her and the human populace only creates further discord.

Science fiction films often imagine futures that comment on the problems of the present. In recent years, “Cli-Fi,” or fiction about climate change, has become an increasingly popular genre, and some historical films have been newly understood within this framework. This series will screen a wide range of historical and contemporary Cli-Fi films, including science fiction, narrative, and experimental films, as well as blockbusters, in order to explore how they encourage us to see, understand, and respond to the escalating crisis of climate change. Presented in collaboration with the School of the Art Institute of Chicago’s Art History, Theory and Criticism, and Film, Video, New Media, and Animation departments. Cli-Fi will run January 30 through May 7. Lecturers: Shawn Michelle Smith, Oliver Sann

RED DESERT (IL DESERTO ROSSO)
1964, dir. Michelangelo Antonioni, Italy, 117 min. In Italian and Turkish with English subtitles / Format: 35mm

In the midst of a hazardous industrial zone in Italy, Giuliana, a wife and mother (Antonioni muse Monica Vitti) struggles fervently to mask her fragile connection with reality from those in her vicinity. This is particularly true in her interactions with her prosperous but inattentive husband Ugo. When Corrado (Richard Harris), an old friend of Ugo comes to visit, he proves to be attuned to Giuliana’s inner turmoil. An affair ensues between Corrado and Giuliana, yet it fails to assuage her existential apprehensions, leading to a tragic deterioration of her mental well-being, mirrored by the ecological threat that surrounds her.

GODZILLA (GOJIRA)
1954, dir. Ishiro Honda, Japan, 96 min. In Japanese with English subtitles / Format: Digital
Celebrating its 70th anniversary, GODZILLA is the roaring granddaddy of all monster movies and a remarkably humane and melancholy drama, made in Japan at a time when the country was reeling from nuclear attack and H-bomb testing in the Pacific. Its rampaging radioactive beast, the poignant embodiment of an entire population’s fears, became a beloved international icon of destruction, spawning almost 30 sequels.

Followed by a discussion with Saira Chambers, Japanese Cultural Center director, Yuki Miyamoto, DePaul Humanities Center director, Michael Phillips, Chicago Tribune film critic, and Robert K. Elder, president and CEO of the Outrider Foundation.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 2:00PM
DON’T LOOK UP
2021, dir. Adam McKay, USA, 138 min. In English / Format: Digital
In McKay’s urgent, star-studded satire, two astronomers (Leonardo DiCaprio and Jennifer Lawrence) go on a media tour to warn humankind of a planet-killing comet hurtling toward Earth, and the response—from influencers to the White House—is decidedly “whatever.”

Followed by a discussion with University of Chicago professors Daniel Holz and Elisabeth Moyer.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 2:00PM
CONTAGION
2003, dir. Steven Soderbergh, USA, UAE, 106 min. In English and Mandarin and Cantonese with English subtitles / Format: Digital
As a fast-moving epidemic grows, the worldwide medical community races to find a cure and control the panic that spreads faster than the virus itself. At the same time, ordinary people struggle to survive in a society coming apart. With a stellar international ensemble cast including Matt Damon, Gwyneth Paltrow, Kate Winslet, and Marion Cotillard, Soderbergh’s action thriller takes on a new, chilling effect in our “post-COVID” world.

Followed by a discussion with Suzet McKinney, principal and director of Life Sciences, Sterling Bay in conversation with Ania Labno, director of the healthcare industry team at KKR Capstone.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 6:00PM
WAR GAMES
1983, dir. John Badham, USA, 114 min. In English / Format: Digital
High school student David Lightman (Matthew Broderick) unwittingly hacks into a military supercomputer while searching for new video games. After starting a game of Global Thermoneutral War, Lightman leads the supercomputer to activate the nation’s nuclear arsenal in response to his simulated threat as the Soviet Union, and the once-clueless hacker must find a way to alert the authorities to stop the onset of World War III.

Followed by a discussion with Stephen Schwartz, nonresident senior fellow with the Bulletin.

Science on Screen® is an initiative of the COOLIDGE CORNER THEATRE, with major support from the ALFRED P. SLOAN FOUNDATION. Each event includes a presentation and dialogue with experts in the field of science and technology.

TEACHER
2023, dir. Adam Gacka, USA, 50 min. In English / Format: Digital

There are 3.1 million public school teachers in the US Education system. Most are underpaid and underappreciated. In Adam Gacka’s raw and emotional documentary, we follow Nkanga Nsa on her inspiring journey to become a teacher in the nation’s 3rd largest public school system, Chicago Public Schools. It begins with resident teaching at The Curtis School of Excellence where Nkanga joins the ranks of a cohort of teachers changing the narrative about what it means to teach in an underserved community. Director Adam Gacka and CPS teachers in attendance for post-screening conversations following all screenings.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 9, 6:00PM
YALLAH GAZA
2023, dir. Roland Nurier, France, 101 min. In English and French and Arabic with English Subtitles / Format: Digital

YALLAH GAZA explores historical and geopolitical aspects, Palestinian politics, and international law and records. The film bears witness to the Palestinian “fury to live” and the daily struggle that keeps despair at bay as Palestinians pass this flame, their culture, and their land from one generation to the next. Presented by the Chicago Palestine Film Festival.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 8:00PM
QUANTUM COWBOYS
2023, dir. Geoff Marslett, USA, 99 min. In English / Format: Digital

In this stunning rotoscoped Western, two hapless drifters, Frank and Bruno (Kiowa Gordon and John Way), team up with Linde (Lily Gladstone) to recover her land and trek across 1870’s Southern Arizona to find an elusive frontier musician. Deemed “one of the best entry-level trip movies ever made” by Film Threat, QUANTUM COWBOYS blends quantum time theory and philosophical musings about art as the way we understand our history and memories, with gunfights, horses, dance halls, cacti, and saloons. Yee-haw! Director Geoff Marslett in attendance.

ONE WITH THE WHALE
2023, dirs. Peter Chtchekowski, Jim Wichers, UK, USA, 80 min. In English / Format: Digital

Hunting whales is a matter of life or death for the residents of St. Lawrence, a tiny island in the Bering Sea. When Chris Agra Apasiginok becomes the youngest person to ever harpoon a whale for his Alaskan village, his family proudly shares the news on social media, where thousands of strangers brutally attack Chris without fully understanding the scope of his accomplishment. This thoughtful documentary captures one family’s struggle to rebuild their shattered identities, and find a way to their Indigenous values in a modern world.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 6:15PM
MISSION DRIFT
2023, dir. Charles de Agustin, USA, 90 min. In English with integrated audio description and open captioning / Format: Digital

MISSION DRIFT follows a nonprofit art gallery worker who tries to stay afloat when a horny, sadomasochistic philanthropist infiltrates the organization. An experimental essay film tinged with noir and fantasy, the work is driven by research into the sparse history of federal USA arts funding since the 1930s and more recent universal basic income trials. The film’s tragic narrative takes aim at how seductive philanthropy can be, and points toward the need to constantly reinvent strategies against mechanisms of capture. MISSION DRIFT’s formal strategies also intend to explore the relationships between accessibility, complicity, precarity, and cinema. Includes an interactive audience experience, with director Charles de Agustin in attendance.

TOM PALAZZOLO’S CHICAGO
1967–80, dir. Tom Palazzolo, USA, 85 min. In English / Format: 16mm and digital

No one has captured Chicago quite like legendary filmmaker and School of the Art Institute of Chicago alumnus Tom Palazzolo (BFA 1965, MFA 1966), who has spent six decades training his irreverent and often humorous gaze at public spectacles and rituals. This program gathers some of Palazzolo’s most iconic shorts into a provocative time capsule of Chicago in the 1960s–70s by taking us from the unveiling of the Picasso sculpture and the 1968 Democratic National Convention; to a nude beauty contest, a backyard wedding shower, and a gruff deli owner; to a disturbing look at a Neo-Nazi rally. Films included are: THE BRIDE STRIPPED BARE (1967); LOVE IT/LEAVE IT (1973); RICKY AND ROCKY (1972, co-directed with Jeff Kreines); JERRY’S DELI (1976); and MARQUETTE PARK II (1980, co-directed with Mark Rance). Presented in collaboration with Chicago Film Archives and Doc Chicago. Director Tom Palazzolo in attendance.
TOTEM is a film about death that is full of life. How did you work with your remarkable ensemble cast to create a tone of grief and joy?

I like to work with people that I feel “comfortable” with. For me, that is always the key word. As director, I always try to do my best, trying to catch the actors’ essence and help them to feel alive and free, to achieve the most naturalistic way, if possible. I love that process. It’s like being a coach, and a mother, a friend, a shadow. Being there without being there. It’s just like music, you need to catch the tone; from that point, it is only playing.

TOTEM is such a symphony of space hallways, corners, rooms. How did you approach directing your large ensemble cast within this labyrinth of space?

I knew from the first moment that it was going to be really important to film in a house. That the house was the other character, and I wanted the house to have a soul. The hard thing about doing a choral film is to find that fluidness between every room and the characters. So, don’t feel pushed into going back and forth, but just with some flexibility. The hard thing is to catch the rhythm between every scene without music and to maintain the emotion of each character, in their own way of expressing the day-to-day life.

TOTEM is your second feature film. What advice would you give to students and emerging filmmakers as they find their voice and tell their story?

To alway try to fight for your own voice. It doesn’t matter if it is not perfect. That’s the beauty!

What is a memorable movie-going experience you’ve had?

I guess when I was young! I loved to go to a really old and big cinema in Mexico City; it was always full of people. The most amazing moment was when all the kids were going to play in front of the screen. It was so much fun, but the moment when they asked us to return to our seats, we’d return in silence to keep catching the films.

What film do you watch again and again?

All of John Cassavetes’ films.

See TOTEM exclusively at the Film Center starting February 9 (p. 4)
