UN FLIC, Oct. 4, 6
INTOLERANCE

1916, D.W. Griffith, USA, 167 min.
With Mae Marsh, Robert Harron, Lillian Gish

“One of the great breakthroughs—the Ulysses of the cinema.”
—Dave Kehr, Chicago Reader

“Restored to the big screen, the film surprises even today with its vitality.”—Nicolas Rapold, The New York Times

Unsurpassed in its scope and ambition, D.W. Griffith’s mighty epic INTOLERANCE is presented in a new digital restoration, playing on selected dates throughout October. The film’s epochs-spanning narrative interweaves four stories illustrating the eternal struggle between love and injustice (plus liberal doses of those historical constants, sex and violence): the crucifixion of Christ; the St. Bartholomew’s Day massacre of French Protestants in 1572; the fall of Babylon in 539 B.C.; and a muckraking modern-day tale involving labor strife, street crime, hypocritical reformers, and capital punishment.

The deep, detailed settings (including the staggering Babylonian courtyard) make big-screen viewing a must, but INTOLERANCE is more than scale and spectacle. The film’s artistry is also evident in its mastery of intimate details, its innovative techniques, its intricate system of parallels and contrasts, and its emotionally sweeping quadruple climax. This restoration features the original color tinting and toning, and a new musical score by acclaimed composer Carl Davis, conducting the Luxembourg Radio Symphony Orchestra. DCP digital. (MR)

indicates special guest appearance
From October 4 through 30, the Gene Siskel Film Center presents French Classics Conserved, a series of eight films, each by a different major director, each representing important works that had been unavailable through normal channels for many years but can now be shown through new 35mm prints, archival 35mm prints, or recent digital restorations. This series is a tribute not only to the glorious heritage of French cinema, but also to the conscientious studio archives (such as Sony Pictures Entertainment) and small independent distributors (such as Rialto Pictures, the Cohen Film Collection, Janus Films, and Cinema Conservancy) that remain committed to the cause of conserving these and many other classic films.

Special thanks to Jake Perlin of Cinema Conservancy; Tim Lanza of the Cohen Film Collection; Sarah Finklea and Laura Coxson of Janus Films; Eric Di Bernardo and Dave Franklin of Rialto Pictures; Christopher Lane and Michael Horne of Sony Pictures Entertainment.

—Martin Rubin

New 35mm print!

UN FLIC
(aka A COP; DIRTY MONEY)
1972, Jean-Pierre Melville, France, 98 min.
With Alain Delon, Catherine Deneuve

Friday, October 4, 6:00 pm
Sunday, October 6, 5:00 pm

Long unavailable in the U.S., Melville’s final film is back in a new 35mm print. UN FLIC is wintry in its settings, chilly in its emotions, and cool in the terse grace of its cops-and-robbers rituals. The story’s central triangle involves a stoical cop (Delon), a suave nightclub owner (Richard Crenna) with a sideline in larceny, and the frosty femme fatale (Deneuve) whose favors they share. The wordless opening heist of a beachside, rain-swept bank is one of the director’s great set pieces. In French with English subtitles. 35mm. (MR)

New restoration!

A PIG ACROSS PARIS
(LE TRAVERSÉE DE PARIS)
(aka FOUR BAGS FULL)
1956, Claude Autant-Lara, France, 80 min.
With Jean Gabin, Bourvil

Sunday, October 6, 3:15 pm
Monday, October 7, 6:00 pm

Filmed in high noirish style on studio sets depicting blacked-out Paris during WWII, this remarkable rediscovery centers on a nervous black-marketeer (Bourvil) who teams up with a laid-back bon vivant (Gabin) to transport four suitcases full of contraband pork. Their picaresque trek across Paris becomes a droll unflattering portrait of French behavior (and misbehavior) under the German Occupation. In French with newly translated subtitles. New DCP digital restoration. (MR)
New restoration!

THE BEAUTY OF THE DEVIL
(FAUTE DU DIABLE)
1950, René Clair, France, 95 min.
With Michel Simon, Gérard Philipe
Friday, October 11, 6:00 pm
Sunday, October 13, 4:45 pm

Clair’s revamping of the Faust legend brings a postwar consciousness and a piquant Gallic flavor to the medieval German tale. A showcase for two of French cinema’s greatest actors, the film begins with Simon playing the aged Faust, and Philipe as the lusty Mephistopheles; then they swap bodies as part of the diabolical pact, with Faust enjoying romance and knowledge...until he is given a glimpse of the future. In French with English subtitles. New DCP digital restoration. (MR)

New restoration!

BOUDU SAVED FROM DROWNING
(BOUDU SAUVÉ DES EAUX)
1932, Jean Renoir, France, 87 min.
With Michel Simon, Charles Granval
Sunday, October 13, 3:00 pm
Monday, October 14, 6:00 pm

One of Renoir’s earliest masterpieces and perhaps his funniest film, BOUDU is a rowdy social satire built around Michel Simon’s legendary performance as a scruffy tramp who is considerably less lovable than Chaplin’s. Rescued by a do-gooder bourgeois bookseller, Boudu responds with gleefully boorish ingratitude, disrupting his rescuer’s household, grabbing its women, and smashing and/or soiling everything he can get his hands on. In French with English subtitles. New DCP digital restoration. (MR)

New restoration!

ANTOINE ET ANTOINETTE
1947, Jacques Becker, France, 78 min.
With Claire Mafféi, Roger Pigaut
Sunday, October 20, 3:00 pm
Monday, October 21, 6:00 pm

He’s a printing-press worker who dreams of owning a motorcycle, she’s a shop girl whose vivaciousness is a magnet for wolves. One of cinema’s most romantic portraits of married life, the film vividly establishes the couple’s connubial bliss, then puts it to the test via a lecherous grocer and a lost lottery ticket. Becker’s style looks forward to the New Wave with its fluid, in-the-streets camerawork and freewheeling directorial flourishes. In French with English subtitles. New DCP digital restoration. (MR)

New restoration!

THE MAN WHO LOVED WOMEN
(LE HOMME QUI AIMAIT LES FEMMES)
1977, François Truffaut, France, 120 min.
With Charles Denner, Brigitte Fossey
Sunday, October 20, 4:45 pm
Wednesday, October 23, 6:00 pm

Given a mixed reception when first released, THE MAN WHO LOVED WOMEN is now widely considered one of Truffaut’s finest and most personal late films. Largely modeled on Truffaut himself, its central character Bertrand Morane (Denner in a complex and moving performance) is a compulsive but considerate womanizer whose many conquests are recounted with remarkable variety and emotional depth. In French with English subtitles. Archival 35mm print courtesy of Cinema Conservancy. (MR)

PORT OF SHADOWS, October 25, 27

New restoration!
PORT OF SHADOWS
(LE QUAI DES BRUMES)
1938, Marcel Carné, France, 91 min.
With Jean Gabin, Michèle Morgan
Friday, October 25, 6:00 pm
Sunday, October 27, 3:00 pm

Fatalistic, romantic, and drenched with mood, PORT OF SHADOWS is a classic example of the prewar French cinema’s “Poetic Realism” movement, which was a major influence on American film noir. Gabin plays an army deserter who hitchhikes to the port city of Le Havre and ends up at a seedy waterfront bar where he encounters a nasty gangster (Pierre Brasseur), a stunning teenage waif (Morgan), and her creepy guardian (Michel Simon). In French with newly translated subtitles. New DCP digital restoration. (MR)

LA VÉRITÉ, October 27, 30

Archival print!
LA VÉRITÉ
(aka THE TRUTH)
1960, Henri-Georges Clouzot, France, 127 min.
With Brigitte Bardot, Charles Vanel
Sunday, October 27, 4:45 pm
Wednesday, October 30, 6:00 pm

An Oscar nominee for Best Foreign Language Film, this now rarely screened film (never available on home video) features what is widely considered Bardot’s finest performance. She plays a promiscuous bohemian accused of the murder of her upscale boyfriend (Sami Frey). On trial as much for her bourgeoisie-offending lifestyle as for the crime itself, the Bardot character evokes intriguing parallels to the star’s own life. In French with English subtitles. Archival 35mm print courtesy of Sony Pictures Entertainment. (MR)

When Comedy Went To School

“A superior clip-compendium of classic Jewish humor.”
—Ronnie Scheib, Variety

2013, Mevlut Akkaya and Ron Frank, USA, 83 min.
Narration by Robert Klein

October 11—17
Fri., Mon., and Wed. at 6:00 pm; Sat. at 7:30 pm; Sun. at 3:00 pm; Tue. and Thu. at 8:15 pm

Legendary standup comics including Jerry Lewis, Sid Caesar, Mort Sahl, Jackie Mason, and Larry King keep the shtick coming in this hilarious portrait of the generation of Jewish comedians who got their start honing their craft at Catskill resorts. These tellers of tales provide one very funny glimpse of life behind the scenes in the Borscht Belt, as a wealth of film clips, home movies, and archival promos complete the all-star picture of an incomparable era. Our Children

(À PERDRE LA RAISON)
2012, Joachim Lafosse, Belgium, 111 min.
With Niels Arestrup, Émilie Dequenne

"At once beautifully realized and brutally uncompromising."—Manohla Dargis, The New York Times

One of the year’s most acclaimed films and Belgium’s 2013 Oscar entry, OUR CHILDREN opens with an unthinkable tragedy, then circles back to the beginning in a haunting tale of encroaching desperation. Murielle (Dequenne of ROSETTA), a bright young teacher, falls madly in love with a handsome Moroccan immigrant (Tahar Rahim of A PROPHET), the adopted son of a wealthy doctor (Arestrup of A PROPHET). By the time the babies number four, the young mother finds herself trapped between a weak-willed husband and his controlling benefactor. In French and Arabic with English subtitles. DCP digital. HANNAH ARENDT
2012, Margarethe von Trotta, Germany, 113 min.
With Barbara Sukowa, Janet McTeer

“Ardent and intelligent...the movie turns ideas into the best kind of entertainment.”—A.O. Scott, The New York Times

HANNAH ARENDT reunites actress Sukowa and director von Trotta (ROSA LUXEMBURG, VISION) in a compelling true story of intellectual honesty. Covering the 1961 trial of Nazi Adolf Eichmann for New Yorker magazine, political theorist Arendt evolves her famous concept of “the banality of evil,” which, along with her exposure of Jewish collaboration during the Holocaust, gains her the enmity of many in the Jewish and intellectual communities. THE ACT OF KILLING 2012, Joshua Oppenheimer, Denmark, 115 min.

More terrifying than any horror film, and more intellectually adventurous than just about any 2013 release so far.”
—Nick Schager, Village Voice

A pair of aging thugs, members of a mid-1960s death squad responsible for the massacre of more than a million accused Indonesian communists, take center stage in this eerily bizarre documentary in which they reenact their deeds for the camera. With unnerving glee, they demonstrate murder techniques and improvize horrific dramas, gangster skits, and even a musical number. The filmmakers outlast the bravado, allowing the creep of guilt to surface. In Indonesian with English subtitles. DCP video. (BS)

From August 30 through December 10, we offer a series of fourteen programs entitled Public Enemies: The Gangster/Crime Film, with weekly Tuesday lecture/discussions by Laurence Knapp, professor at Oakton Community College and author/editor of books on Clint Eastwood, David Fincher, and Ridley Scott. The series is presented in cooperation with the School of the Art Institute of Chicago’s Department of Art History, Theory, and Criticism. Additional screenings of the films on Friday or Saturday do not include Prof. Knapp’s lecture. Admission to all Public Enemies programs is $5 for Film Center members; usual admission prices apply for non-members.

—Martin Rubin

Public Enemies examines the changing status and historical contexts of the criminal in American and international cinema. The gangster/crime film has provided a format of considerable breadth and flexibility. The protagonist can be a hit man, convict, thief, private eye, renegade cop, drug dealer, corporate attorney, or serial killer. The setting can be America, Europe, Japan, or Brazil. The films can be about capitalism, masculinity, gender, race, sexuality, and existential despair. We will explore many of these possibilities in films by Sam Peckinpah, Fritz Lang, Jean-Luc Godard, Robert Altman, Martin Scorsese, Quentin Tarantino, Takeshi Kitano, and others.

ODDS AGAINST TOMORROW

1959, Robert Wise, USA, 95 min.
With Harry Belafonte, Robert Ryan
Saturday, October 5, 5:15 pm
Tuesday, October 8, 6:00 pm

BONNIE AND CLYDE

1967, Arthur Penn, USA, 111 min.
With Warren Beatty, Faye Dunaway
Saturday, October 12, 5:15 pm
Tuesday, October 15, 6:00 pm

BAND OF OUTSIDERS’ resonant mix of wintry melancholy and high-spirited digressions has made it one of Godard’s most admired films. Two guys (Sami Frey, Claude Brasseur) compete for a girl (Karina) in their English class and concoct a movie-fed scheme to burglar her aunt’s villa. In French with English subtitles. 35mm. (MR)

ODDS AGAINST TOMORROW is an explosive mixture of film-noir pessimism and civil-rights-era social consciousness. Three Manhattan mugs—a cashiered cop (Ed Begley), an angry ex-con (Ryan), and an unlucky jazz musician (Belafonte)—team up to heist an upstate bank, but racial tensions undermine their plans. 35mm. (MR)

Borrowing freely from the French New Wave, shifting tones with jarring audacity, and spilling more blood than ever before seen in a Hollywood movie, this landmark film revitalized the gangster genre and transformed Depression-era bank-robbers Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker into outlaw icons for a rebellious generation. 35mm. (MR)
THE LONG GOODBYE, October 19, 22

1973, Robert Altman, USA, 112 min.
With Elliott Gould, Sterling Hayden

Saturday, October 19, 5:15 pm
Tuesday, October 22, 6:00 pm

In Altman’s irreverent and stylish take on the detective genre, Raymond Chandler’s knight-like private-eye Philip Marlowe (Gould) becomes a shambling wise-ass whose outdated attitudes make him nearly as dangerous as the psychotic gangster whose toes he steps on while investigating the murder of a friend’s wife. 35mm widescreen. (MR)

SONATINE, October 26, 29

1993, Takeshi Kitano, Japan, 94 min.
With Beat Takeshi, Aya Kokumai

Saturday, October 26, 5:00 pm
Tuesday, October 29, 6:00 pm

Blending droll comedy with harsh, shocking spurts of graphic violence, SONATINE made Kitano the most talked-about Asian director since John Woo. The actor/director’s own deadpan performance galvanizes this story of a middle-aged gangster’s last-ditch attempt to defend his turf against younger and more blood-thirsty rivals. 35mm. (BS)

Upcoming films in Public Enemies:

- November 1 and 5
  CAPE FEAR
  1991, Martin Scorsese, USA, 128 min.

- November 9 and 12
  TRUE ROMANCE
  1992, Tony Scott, USA, 120 min.

SPECIAL ENGAGEMENT!

CBGB
2013, Randall Miller, USA, 90 min.
With Alan Rickman, Donal Logue

Thursday, October 17, 10:00 pm
The birthplace of punk rock gets its due in this rousing tribute. With a couple of bankruptcies, a divorce, and two failed clubs under his belt, impresario Hilly Kristal (Rickman) happens upon a rundown biker bar. Soon fledgling punk luminaries including Blondie, Iggy Pop, The Ramones, and Patti Smith are stalking the stage. The all-star cast includes Johnny Galecki, Foo Fighters drummer Taylor Hawkins, and Rupert Grint in an inspired performance as Cheetah Chrome of The Dead Boys. (Christopher Sanew)

On May 13, 1985, Philadelphia law enforcement unleashed wrathful mayhem on MOVE, a militant African American counterculture organization, killing eleven people and enveloping several city blocks in a raging firestorm. Accessing an extraordinary archival trove of film documenting every aspect of the event and the subsequent depositions and hearings, director Osder turns back the clock for a powerful yet balanced you-are-there experience that suggests blistering resonance for our time.
