STANLEY NELSON IN PERSON!

MILES DAVIS: BIRTH OF THE COOL

2019, Stanley Nelson, USA, 114 min.

Jazz giant Miles Davis was one of the most colossal and complex figures of twentieth-century music. Expert documentarian Nelson (THE BLACK PANTHERS) does a remarkable job of giving shape to Davis's prodigious life and career. His many musical evolutions are lucidly charted, and passages from his autobiography take us through his battles with racism, substance abuse, and anger. Especially notable among the many interviews are revealing reminiscences from his great loves, French singer Juliette Greco and first wife Frances Taylor. DCP digital. (MR)

Saturday, October 12, 7:45 pm
Sunday, October 20, 1:30 pm
Friday, October 25, 2:00 pm
Sunday, October 27, 3:00 pm

This hilarious, award-winning one-woman show that inspired BBC’s hit TV series is a rip-roaring look at some sort of woman living her sort of life. Fleabag (Waller-Bridge) may seem oversexed, emotionally unfiltered and self-obsessed, but that’s just the tip of the iceberg. With family and friendships under strain, and a guinea pig café struggling to keep afloat, she suddenly finds herself with nothing to lose. DCP digital. (Description courtesy of NT Live)

ONE CHILD NATION

“Superb... assembles a huge story together from very small, crucial pieces.”—Michael Phillips, Chicago Tribune

China’s former one-child-per-family law, in force from 1979 through 2013, is an intensely personal issue for filmmakers Wang and Zhang, both members of China’s loneliest generation. The now U.S.-based Wang returns to her hometown to discover the legacy of a policy that she grew up believing was a beneficial national goal. The real story of coercion, forced abortions, mandatory sterilizations, infanticide, and attendant lasting guilt and shame unfolds in gripping first-person narratives. “Lovely...listening to the film’s gorgeous renderings will make you a believer.”
—Gary Goldstein, Los Angeles Times

Estonian composer Arvo Pärt’s neo-classical compositions have been described by critics as “ethereal,” “sublime,” and “spiritual.” This documentary captures exquisite performances of his work around the world, including Pärt himself rehearsing the Cello Octet Amsterdam. In English, Dutch, German, and French with English subtitles. DCP digital. (BS)

LUCREZIA BORGIA
(LUCRÈCE BORGIA)
2019, Denis Podalydès, France, 145 min.
With Elsa Lepoivre, Gaël Kamilindi

Saturday, October 12, 12:00 pm

Lucrèce Borgia (1832) is considered Victor Hugo’s most powerful work, a dramatic vision involving fratricide, incest, violence, and perverted maternal love. This adaptation was staged by the Comédie-Française in Paris, with costumes by Christian Lacroix. Presented in collaboration with Chicago’s Alliance Française. In French with English subtitles. THE KILLERS, FOUR KILLERS

The contrasts between these two adaptations of Ernest Hemingway’s 1927 short story provide a textbook example of how differences in tone, point of view, and era can produce two very different films despite general similarities in plot. Both films are presented in new 4K digital restorations. (MR)

With Edmond O’Brien, Burt Lancaster, Ava Gardner

Friday, October 4, 2:00 pm
Sunday, October 6, 3:00 pm
Thursday, October 10, 6:00 pm

“An example of film noir at its most expressive.” —Don Druker, Chicago Reader

The intense opening scenes of this classic film noir follow Hemingway’s story almost verbatim; the rest is an imaginative extrapolation by screenwriters Anthony Veiller and (uncredited) John Huston. An insurance investigator (O’Brien) delves into the troubling murder of a washed-up prizefighter (Lancaster), whose hard-luck life is presented in a series of chronologically scrambled flashbacks. New 4K DCP digital restoration. (MR)

Monday, October 7, 6:00 pm

“Terse, seething, and stylish.” —Richard Brody, The New Yorker

Where the 1946 version was shadowy, voluptuous, and doomily romantic, the 1964 remake is shiny, hard-edged, and nihilistic. The shift in tone reflects the decision to dump 1946’s earnest insurance investigator and have his role as detective-figure filled by the two ruthless hit men (Marvin, Clu Gulager), whose curiosity and greed are aroused by their victim’s inexplicable refusal to run. New 4K DCP digital restoration. (MR)

NEW 4K RESTORATIONS!

Fritz Lang’s Indian Epic

1959, Fritz Lang, Germany, 203 min.
With Debra Paget, Paul Hubschmid, Walther Reyer

“A dazzling achievement… There is nothing in cinema like it.”—Jonathan Rosenbaum, Placing Movies

After a 25-year absence from Germany, Lang was given a free hand and a large budget to resurrect a project he had intended to direct in the early 1920s. Often referred to as the Indian Epic and released in two parts (with a cliff-hanger at the end of the first), the serial-style story centers on the love triangle between a German architect (Paul Hubschmid), an Indian Maharajah (Walther Reyer), and a temple dancer of uncertain origin (American star Paget, who easily steals the show with her eye-popping exotic dances). The real star is Lang’s sense of visual design—a non-stop feast of richly orchestrated colors and sumptuous but lucidly patterned sets. In German with English subtitles. New 4K DCP digital restoration. (MR)

“The greatest film made by a black African.”—Charles Mudeke, The Stranger

Adapted by one of Africa’s most important filmmakers, Swiss playwright Friedrich Dürrenmatt’s 1956 classic The Visit becomes a caustic parable of neocolonial exploitation, as a fabulously wealthy woman returns to the destitute town that was once the scene of her disgrace, looking to strike a sinister bargain. In Wolof with English subtitles. New DCP digital restoration. (MR)
In 1956, four years before there was Jane Goodall, there was Anne Innis Dagg, a 23-year-old Canadian with a passion for giraffes who traveled alone to South Africa to study the long-necked creatures in their natural environment. This documentary saga of scientific achievement, feminism, and heartbreaking discrimination has the now 86-year-old Innis Dagg retracing the path of her past work in Africa and finally realizing long-awaited acclaim for her pioneering research.

THE LEGACY OF L.A. PUNK

First Chicago Run!

Desolation Center

2018, Stuart Swezey, USA, 95 min.

“Fascinating...an entertaining ride even for people without any interest in California’s early 1980s punk-rock scene.”—Boyd van Hoeij, The Hollywood Reporter

In the early 1980s, Los Angeles spawned an explosive punk scene that was relentlessly harassed by the LAPD. In response, 21-year-old Stuart Swezey founded Desolation Center, a DIY organization that staged events in remote desert locations where fans and performers (including Meat Puppets, Sonic Youth, Minutemen) could cut loose. These legendary events were amazingly influential (the founders of Burning Man, Coachella, and Lollapalooza were all inspired by them), but their story had never been told before this eye-opening documentary, winner of the Audience Award at the 2019 Chicago Underground Film Festival. End of the Century

(FIN DE SIGLO)
2019, Lucio Castro, Argentina, 84 min.
With Juan Barberini, Ramón Pujol, Mía Maestro

“One of the most evocative gay films of the decade.” —Jude Dry, Indiewire

Castro’s haunting first feature begins in Barcelona, where Ocho (Barberini), a recently separated poet from New York, catches the eye of Javi (Pujol), a TV director from Berlin. Their hook-up is swift, passionate, and seemingly fleeting, until Javi reveals that they have met and had sex before. The film jumps back twenty years, to 1999, when the two men, then closeted, had an ecstatic encounter on a disco dance floor. In the audacious third act, both past and present are redefined by the conditional future of what might have been. In Spanish with English subtitles. DCP digital. (MR)

THE GOLDEN GLOVE

(DER GOLDENE HANDSCHUH)
2019, Fatih Akin, Germany/France, 111 min.
With Jonas Dassler, Katja Studt, Margarete Tiesel

“Imagine if Lucian Freud and Mike Leigh got together to make a serial-killer movie, and then Quentin Tarantino turned up…” —Kaleem Aftab, Cineuropa

Not for the faint of heart, this grotesque dramatization of the life of notorious German serial killer Fritz Honka caused a critical furor in its world premiere at the Berlin Film Festival. With mannered performances and flourishes of finely honed craft, director Akin (HEAD-ON, THE EDGE OF HEAVEN) pushes his cold-blooded horror premise to the limit while spiking the plot with unsettling hints of rudely transgressive black humor. In this erotic tease of a story, lip-bitingly nervous Jenna (Hodge) and confident Kate (Paulson), romantic partners of two years, head for a threesome with exotic British-accented mystery woman Mia (Eringer). Aided and abetted most effectively by a cast with loads of chemistry, director Carlton (HANNAH FREE, JAMIE AND JESSIE ARE NOT TOGETHER) keeps the tension high as loyalties, attractions, and subterfuges change from minute to minute and a reckoning hour in the bedroom approaches. With Homayoun Ershadi, Abdolrahman Bagheri

Friday, October 4, 8:00 pm
Monday, October 7, 6:00 pm

The profound intersection of life and death is the provocative mystery at the center of this masterwork in which the middle-aged intellectual Badii (Ershadi) seeks a volunteer to carry out his burial in the aftermath of his planned suicide. In a series of vehicle-bound confrontations, philosophies collide, the rules of man meet the laws of nature, and life in all its elusive vibrancy paradoxically rules. Winner of the Palme d’Or at the 1997 Cannes Film Festival. In Persian with English subtitles. DCP digital. (BS)

THE WIND WILL CARRY US

With Behzad Dourani, Noghre Asadi

Saturday, October 5, 3:00 pm
Wednesday, October 9, 7:45 pm

An engineer, head of a team that descends on a remote village, devises a one-man rat race in the course of pursuing his mysterious mission. Barreling over rocky trails in his jeep or talking self-importantly on his cell phone, he seems oblivious to the rhythms of life as it is lived in this place. With gentle irony and profound consequences, Kiarostami interjects the imminent death of an elderly village lady and its subsequent mourning ritual as a catalyst for change. In Persian with English subtitles. DCP digital. (BS)

When a student sneakily disrupts a class, he and his mates are sent into the hall until they reveal the culprit. A group of parents, artists, religious leaders, and public officials are then asked to comment on the ethics of snitching. Begun in the last days of the Shah and completed in the early stage of the revolution, the film provides a fascinating cross-section of a society in transition. Monday, October 14, 8:00 pm
Invited by an agency of the United Nations to make a documentary calling attention to the plight of orphans in Uganda, Kiarostami fulfilled the task with seeming uninflected directness, yet his images perceive more than the commissioners might have imagined. Characteristically, the director interprets this nation through its smallest and most powerless citizens, whether a dying boy in a bare clinic, or a child being carried away by new adoptive parents. In Persian and English with English subtitles. DCP digital. (BS)

In a trademark strategy, taking the front seat of an SUV as the film’s sole location, Kiarostami conjures up an astonishing range of emotions and stories in the course of ten encounters between the car’s nameless female driver (Akbari) and the passengers she picks up while navigating the streets of Tehran. The woman’s sister (newly jilted by her fiancé), a devout elderly woman en route to a shrine, and a prostitute represent touchingly subtle studies in female alienation, countered by the driver’s sullen and accusatory ten-year-old son. In Persian with English subtitles. DCP digital. (BS)

10 ON TEN
2004, Abbas Kiarostami, Iran, 88 min.
Saturday, October 12, 5:00 pm
Kiarostami returns to the location of A TASTE OF CHERRY for a revealing documentary on himself. Driving the twisting mountain roads that have figured so significantly in his work, he uses the intimacy of the front seat of his SUV to create the illusion of a one-on-one conversation with his audience. Holding forth on the methods and philosophy behind his work from early documentaries to the recent TEN, the director reveals a glimmer of ironic humor, especially in his concluding commentary on the influence of American cinema. In Persian with English voiceover. DCP digital. (BS)

SHIRIN
2008, Abbas Kiarostami, Iran, 97 min.
With Juliette Binoche, Niki Karimi, Golshifteh Farahani

Friday, October 18, 6:00 pm
Monday, October 21, 8:00 pm

Staged as if it were a documentary of an audience watching a film that features the narration of a 12th-century Persian epic poem on the soundtrack, SHIRIN is composed of close-ups of 112 Iranian actresses plus French actress Juliette Binoche, as reactions to the spectacle on the screen before them flicker across their faces. The film functions as both a marvelous lesson in the artifice of cinema and as a meditation on the captivating power of woman. In Persian with English subtitles. DCP digital. (BS)

CERTIFIED COPY
(COPIE CONFORME)
2010, Abbas Kiarostami, France/Italy/Iran, 106 min.
With Juliette Binoche, William Shimell

Saturday, October 19, 3:00 pm
Wednesday, October 23, 6:00 pm

Kiarostami makes a daring foray into new territory with this puzzle of a love story. The seemingly make-believe relationship of a flirtatious French antiques dealer and an English author begs the question of authenticity when she invites him for a day of sightseeing in an idyllic Italian village. As they alternately court and bicker with mounting emotional heat, Kiarostami dangles a host of maddening clues that there is much more to this story than meets the eye. In English, French, and Italian with English subtitles. 35mm. (BS)

THE REPORT
(GOZARESH)
1977, Abbas Kiarostami, Iran, 110 min.
With Kourosh Afsharpanah, Shohreh Agdashloo

Saturday, October 19, 5:15 pm

Making this realistic drama on the brink of Iran’s 1979 revolution, Kiarostami ran afoul of the Shah’s censors. Accused of taking bribes, a mid-level civil servant (Afsharpanah) is suspended from his job, but that is only the least in an undertow of problems that include a crumbling marriage and an overriding sense of ennui. The film’s ominous sense that something in this society is coming to a head is underlined by a shockingly brutal incident of spousal abuse and a suicide attempt. In Persian with English subtitles. Digital video. (BS)
24 FRAMES
2017, Abbas Kiarostami, Iran/France, 119 min.
Friday, October 25, 3:45 pm
Monday, October 28, 6:00 pm
Completed posthumously, Kiarostami’s final film is composed of twenty-four short sequences based on his own photographs and one Bruegel painting. His subtle method begs the question whether these images are true to life or the sly digital sleight of hand of a master magician. Horses frolic in a skittish mating dance in a snow-covered field; a cow sleeps on a beach at dusk amid swelling waves; a feral cat traps squabbling blackbirds; feisty crows flit ominously; and more, composing a vibrant meditation on life in all of its mysterious forms. In Persian with English subtitles. DCP digital. (BS)

LIKE SOMEONE IN LOVE
2012, Abbas Kiarostami, France/Japan, 109 min.
With Rin Takanashi, Tadashi Okuno
Saturday, October 26, 3:00 pm
Wednesday, October 30, 6:00 pm
One night and day in the life of a Tokyo college student moonlighting as a call girl becomes a cinematic hall of mirrors in Kiarostami’s hands, working once again in an international mode following his hit CERTIFIED COPY. Sent to a high-level elderly client, Akiko finds his request for conversation and dinner rather than sex beyond her abilities. Intentions are ambiguous when the old man, his would-be seductress, and her jealous boyfriend become tangled in an emotional triangle distinguished by half-truths and self-serving fiction. In Japanese with English subtitles. DCP digital. (BS)

FIVE (FOR OZU)
(aka FIVE DEDICATED TO OZU)
2003, Abbas Kiarostami, Iran/Japan/France, 78 min.
Saturday, October 26, 5:15 pm
Five hypnotic, exquisitely composed shots of the sea and seashore appear to be uninterrupted shots, but appearances are highly deceiving. In this precursor to 24 FRAMES, each sequence was intricately and seamlessly composed from as many as twenty separate shots in order to create the contemplative reality of the artist’s poetic vision. A piece of driftwood rolls in the waves; tourists contemplate the ocean from a walkway; wild dogs nap on the shore; ducks go for a walk; and the sounds of frogs and crickets accompany a view of moonlight on water. Without dialogue. DCP digital. (BS)
VIEWING POSITIONS

Lecturer: Fred Camper

From Aug. 30 through Dec. 10, we offer Viewing Positions, a series of fourteen programs with weekly Tuesday lectures by Fred Camper, artist and longtime art and film critic for the Chicago Reader and many other publications. The series is presented in cooperation with the SAIC Dept. of Art History, Theory, and Criticism. Additional screenings of the films on Fri. or Sat. do not include the lecture. Admission to all Viewing Position programs is $5 for Film Center members; usual prices for non-members.

—Martin Rubin

This series will use a wide variety of films to demonstrate the different relationships that films establish with the viewer and the thematic, cultural, and ideological implications of those differences. Among the different models to be explored are the classical Hollywood style of Alfred Hitchcock, the tangled emotionalism of Yvonne Rainer’s feminism, the voyeurism of Andy Warhol, and the transhuman view of the Robert Bresson film whose protagonist is a donkey.

AU HASARD BALTHAZAR
1966, Robert Bresson, France, 95 min.
With Anne Wiazemsky, François Lefarge

Friday, October 4, 6:00 pm
Tuesday, October 8, 6:00 pm

Widely considered one of Bresson’s greatest masterpieces, this sublime film uses a donkey’s life to frame the inhabitants of a rural French village and their struggles with sin and chance (hasard), as Balthazar is used and abused by a schoolteacher, a tramp, a motorcycle punk, a circus, a miser, a smuggler, and a girl (Wiazemsky) whose misfortunes mirror his own. Godard called it “the world in an hour and a half.” In French with English subtitles. 35mm. (MR)

TOO EARLY, TOO LATE
(TROP TÔT, TROP TARD)
1982, Danièle Huillet and Jean-Marie Straub, France/Egypt, 100 min.

Friday, October 11, 3:45 pm
Tuesday, October 15, 6:00 pm

Perhaps the finest achievement of the great materialist filmmakers Straub and Huillet, TOO EARLY, TOO LATE is a film about landscapes—landscapes recorded with a Lumière-like precision and clarity. The first of the film’s two parts juxtaposes present-day views of French villages with Friedrich Engels’s descriptions of the same locales on the eve of the French revolution. The second, longer part shifts to Egyptian scenes, accompanied by a recent Marxist history of the country’s resistance to colonialism. In German, French, and Arabic with English subtitles. DCP digital. (MR)

Friday, October 18, 3:45 pm
Tuesday, October 22, 6:00 pm

Akerman’s powerful synthesis of polemic and poetry contemplates the unseen, unacknowledged war that is fought nightly along the U.S.-Mexico border. The film’s central image is the endless fortified barrier that separates Agua Prieta, Mexico, and Douglas, Arizona. Alternating between incisive interviews and haunting landscapes, FROM THE OTHER SIDE begins south, with Mexicans who have lost loved ones in the attempt to cross over. Moving north, Akerman finds Arizonians both frightened and saddened by the “invasion.” ProRes digital. (MR)

FILM ABOUT A WOMAN WHO...
1974, Yvonne Rainer, USA, 90 min.
With Dempster Leech, Shirley Soffer

Tuesday, October 29, 6:00 pm

Rainer transitioned from dance to cinema to become one of the most important avant-garde filmmakers of the 1970s. Deconstructing the codes of melodrama and soap opera, FILM ABOUT A WOMAN WHO… examines the relationships among two unnamed couples, one of whom have a young daughter. The film posits a hyper-alert and destabilized viewer as it constantly shifts among different registers of delivering information—voiceover narration, superimposed text, intertitles, text pasted on a woman’s face, black screen, and direct speech. Digital video. (MR)

1982, Paul Schrader, USA, 118 min.
With Nastassja Kinski, Malcolm McDowell, John Heard

Friday, October 25, 6:15 pm
Thursday, October 31, 8:30 pm

Schrader’s sex-and-violence heavy remake of Jacques Tourneur’s 1942 horror masterpiece stars Kinski and McDowell as Irena and Paul, siblings descended from a line of supernatural beings who transform into panthers after having sex and back into humans after killing. Featuring an ominous synthesizer score from Giorgio Moroder and plenty of local color courtesy of its New Orleans locations, this remake diverges from the tasteful restraint of its inspiration to stake out its own ground as transcendentally moody, neon-drenched pulp. 35mm.
